As your pet's health is our utmost concern, during dental cleanings we may find teeth that are in need of further examination and treatment. We offer digital dental radiography (X-rays) to assess the health of the teeth, including the root structure and surrounding bone. X-rays may be needed to help us provide treatment or extraction. In the event that x-rays or extractions are needed, how would you like us to proceed?

- _____ Call before any x-rays or extractions are done.
- _____ Perform x-rays at the doctor's discretion.
- _____ Extract teeth at doctor's discretion.
- _____ Please do full mouth x-rays ($125) regardless of the oral exam findings to fully assess my pet's oral health.

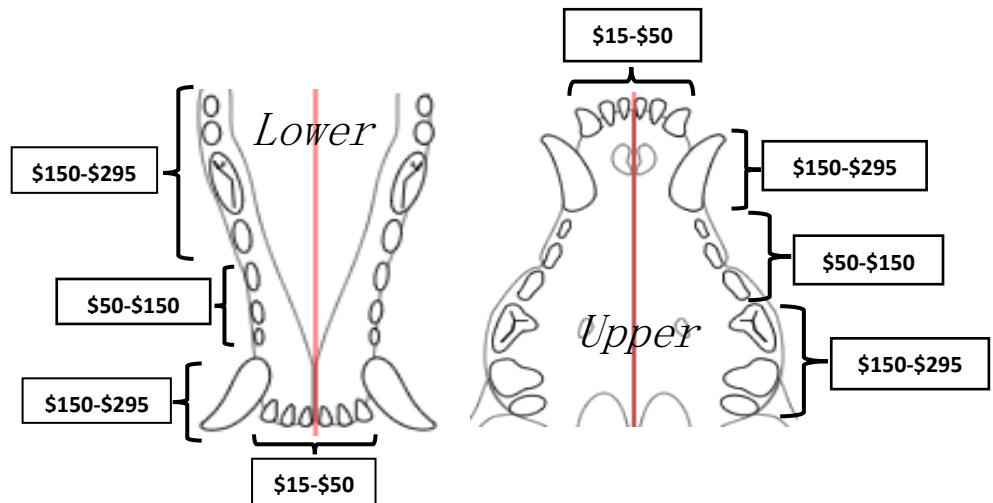

Dental Radiograph Pricing:

1 x-ray: $45

2-4 x-rays: $89

5+/Full Mouth x-rays: $125

Dental Extraction pricing varies based on complexity. Chart shows general price range for affected teeth. Average cost per extraction is around $25-$150 per tooth.

If we are unable to reach you at the phone number provided, what would you like us to do?

- _____ Do the necessary x-rays and/or extraction(s) based on the doctor's discretion.
(Extractions range in price from $15 to $295, depending on the complexity.)
- _____ Do NOT do any x-rays or extractions and recover your pet from anesthesia WITH the KNOWLEDGE that further anesthesia may be required at a later date.
